INTER CULTURAL ASSOCIATION

10:50 - 11:50 AM

The ICA Presents "Food for Thought". Have you ever heard chocolate sing? How many flavours can you count in a cup of chai? Whose hands have touched your cocoa to get it from the farm to your hands? Through mindfulness exercises, creative expression, play, and stories, we will explore why food is so important to healthy communities and healthy selves. On a community level, we can build resilience by understanding the importance of local food chains. On an individual level, resilience comes from understanding that our choices and cultural connections to food make us a live link on these chains.

10:00 - 11:00 AM

UVIC CAMPUS COMMUNITY
GARDEN

The Campus Community Garden presents "Perennials: Building Lasting Communities". The UVic Campus Community Garden is a collaborative project between students, staff, and faculty that focuses on promoting food security and fostering sustainable food production through education, reciprocity, and community building. We will discuss how the Garden is a site where we center food production, skill sharing, and relationship building as a method of fostering alternatives to the systems of oppression under which we reside.
